

PT-D460BT

Easy-to-use desktop label printer

Designed for flexible use

Compatible with your lifestyle and way of working, the PT-D460BT is a user-friendly desktop label printer that's perfect for home and small office use. Use it as a portable, standalone labelling solution with its built-in keyboard, or easily connect it to your PC or smart device via USB or Bluetooth for more advanced features.

Create and customise with Brother software

Are you ready to take your labels to the next level? Simply connect the PT-D460BT to your PC to take advantage of Brother's P-touch Editor software for free - with no ongoing costs! P-touch Editor allows you to create, edit and print your labels and makes connecting with your existing databases hassle-free. You can easily add in your own logos, symbols, barcodes and more to fully customise your labels to specifically meet your needs.

Optimal desktop handling

The PT-D460BT is a fast and simple labelling solution that has all the key P-touch features you've grown to know and love including a built-in QWERTY keyboard for fast typing, large graphical display that helps you review your labels before printing.

Convenient built-in features

Using the 16 built-in fonts, 140 decorative frames and 800 symbols, you can create bespoke labels that not only look fantastic but are also completely customised and fit for purpose. You can also save up to 70 label templates on the PT-D460BT for quick reprinting.

Versatile labelling options

Whether you're labelling items in your pantry, kid's school items or getting your home office organised, the PT-D460BT can do it all with its ability to print on label tapes up to 18mm wide. You can also be confident that your labels won't deteriorate over time as Brother's P-touch laminated TZe tapes consist of seven layers of materials, resulting in a thin, extremely strong label designed to last.

Brother at your side support

Wherever you are in Australia, Brother offers free product support for the lifetime of your product.
