Simply plug-in and start labelling immediately

The Brother QL-700 label printer offers an easy way to print professional looking labels for a wide range of uses throughout the workplace. We have made label printing easier than ever by incorporating "P-touch Editor Lite" label design software inside the QL-700. Windows users simply need to connect the USB cable, run the software from the pop-up message, then design and print your label. No software or drivers need to be installed.

1. Connect the USB cable

When connected to your PC, the QL-700 is identified as a USB flash drive and a new drive letter appears on your computer. This contains the label design software.

2. Run the built-in label design software

Double-click on the P-touch Editor Lite icon to launch the label design software. As this is built-in to the QL-700 it is always available on whichever PC you connect it to.

3. Design and print your label

Simply design your label by adding text, graphics and frames and then print. No software is installed to your PC during this process.

Also includes professional label design software

The more powerful P-touch Editor software is supplied on CD-ROM, which is installed in the standard way. Offering integration with Microsoft Word, Excel and Outlook, you can print labels directly from these applications. Simply highlight the address, text or information you require, then click the "P-touch" icon in the toolbar to print your label immediately. You can include barcodes, graphics, frames and other information on your labels, whatever your requirements.

QL-700

Effortless label printing - for all applications

The QL-700 uses Brother DK label rolls. Supplied on a spool that incorporates a roll guide, this ensures that the label is always installed correctly, and recognises the size of label inserted. And you get none of the alignment problems associated with printing labels in a traditional printer.
